

CableCom Training Ltd Lone Worker

Policy

Introduction

CableCom Training Ltd recognises that some staff are required to work by themselves in the community without close or direct supervision, sometimes in isolated work areas or out of office hours.

Under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, CableCom Training Ltd has a duty of care to advise and assess risk for workers when they work by themselves in these circumstances. However employees have responsibilities to take reasonable care of themselves and other people affected by their work.

Scope of the policy

This policy applies to all situations involving lone working arising in connection with the duties and activities of CableCom Training Ltd staff, volunteers and trustees.

‘Lone workers’ include:

Those working at their main place of work where:

- Only one person is working on the premises
- People work separately from each other, e.g. in different locations
- People working outside normal office hours, e.g. cleaners

Those working away from their fixed base where:

- One worker is visiting another agency’s premises or meeting venue
- One worker is making a home visit to an individual
- One worker is working from their own home

Aims of the policy

The aim of the policy is to:-

- Increase staff awareness of safety issues relating to lone working
- Ensure that the risk of lone working is assessed in a systematic and ongoing way, and that safe systems and methods of work are put in place to reduce the risk so far is reasonably practicable
- Ensure that appropriate support and training is available to all staff that equips them to recognise risk and provides practical advice on safety when working alone
- Encourage full reporting and recording of all adverse incidents relating to lone working
- Reduce the number of incidents and injuries to staff related to lone working

Responsibilities

The Managing Director is responsible for:

Ensuring that there are arrangements for identifying, evaluating and managing the risk associated with lone working

- Providing resources for putting the policy into practice

- Ensuring that there are arrangements for monitoring incidents linked to lone working and that the effectiveness of this policy is regularly viewed

Line managers and Health and Safety representatives are responsible for:

- Ensuring that all staff are aware of the policy
- Taking all possible steps to ensure that lone workers are at no greater risk than other employees
- Identify situations where people work alone and decide whether systems can be adapted to avoid workers carrying out tasks on their own
- Ensuring that risk assessments are carried out and reviewed regularly
- Putting procedures and safe systems of work into practice which are designed to eliminate or reduce the risks associated with working alone
- Ensuring that staff groups and individuals identified as being at risk are given appropriate information, instruction and training, including training at induction, updating and refreshing this training as necessary
- Managing the effectiveness of preventative measures through an effective system of reporting, investigating and recording incidents
- Providing a mobile phone, and other personal safety equipment, where this is felt to be desirable

Employees are responsible for:

- Taking reasonable care of themselves and others affected by their actions;
- Following guidance and procedures designed for safe working
- Reporting all incidents that may affect the health and safety of themselves or others and asking for guidance as appropriate
- Taking part in training designed to meet the requirements of the policy
- Reporting any dangers or potential dangers they identify or any concerns they might have in respect of working alone

Guidance for Risk Assessments of Lone Working

- Is the person medically fit and suitable to work alone?
- Are the adequate channels of communication in an emergency?
- Does the workplace or task present a special risk to the lone worker?
- Is there a risk of violence?
- Are women especially at risk if they work alone?
- Is any known risk attached to learner(s)?
- Has any alternative to a home visit been considered?
- Has safe travelling between appointments been arranged?
- Have reporting and recording arrangements been made where appropriate?
- Can the whereabouts of the lone worker be traced?

Good practice for lone workers

- During their working hours, all staff leaving the workplace (or home) should leave written details where they are going and their estimated time of arrival back at base
- If, in the case of a trip away from the office, plans change significantly, this should be communicated back to the office
- Telephone contact between the lone worker and a colleague, may also be advisable.
- Staff should avoid being left on their own with a learner in their workplace, or leaving a colleague in this situation
- Staff should avoid meeting clients alone at the workplace
- Lone workers should have access to adequate first-aid facilities and mobile workers should carry a first-aid kit suitable for treating minor injuries

- Lone workers should be provided with a mobile phone and other personal safety equipment where is necessary
- Occasionally risk assessment may indicate that lone workers need training in first aid

Children and vulnerable adults – Please refer to the relevant policies

- In general, staff should never work alone with a child or a vulnerable adult.
- Staff should never transport a child on their own and should assess any risk before transporting a vulnerable adult alone

Monitoring safety issues

- Lone workers must report incidents such as accidents and near misses, including all incidents where they feel threatened, in the CableCom Training Ltd accident book. (This includes incidents of verbal abuse)
- During supervision, managers will ask people working on their own whether there are any safety concerns that aren't being addresses
- Lone workers are encouraged to seek help and advice if any safety concerns arise.
